
Diamond Pave Earrings

What are diamond pave earrings? Diamond pave earrings are tiny clusters of diamonds, carefully cut and fit into a setting. Diamond pave earrings, are often not real expensive, because of course, smaller diamonds weigh less than bigger diamonds. Diamonds are usually priced on their total carat weight, among other things, and the bigger the diamond the more it weighs. Which also means the more it cost.

{mosgoogle}

Diamond pave earrings, come in a large array of styles, and settings, as well as shapes, and sizes. One store in particular, Ann Harrington Jewelry, has a large selection of diamond pave earrings, available. Their selection of styles include diamond pave heart earrings, and diamond pave hinged earrings, among many other styles. Ann Harrington Jewelry also has a nice variety of colors, of metal for the setting of your diamond pave earrings. The colors include white gold, yellow gold and sterling silver. You can also choose the clarity of your diamonds as well.

At Ann Harrington Jewelry, they have a nice 30 day warranty, that applies under circumstances, for your new, diamond pave earrings. They will also custom make a special request for your diamond pave earrings, in case you do not see a style you are fond of while shopping. Special request also known as custom made jewelry is sometimes the best option to go with, when you can not seem to find the perfect pair of diamond pave earrings you are looking for.

While shopping at Ann Harrington Jewelry, for your diamond pave earrings, you may want to check out some of their other jewelry that they have available. You can purchase gifts from them for under 250$, and gift certificates, for that person that is hard to buy for.