

---

Square Diamond Earrings

Square diamond earrings, are also known as princess cut, diamond earrings. Square diamond earrings, are available at most any jewelry store. Square diamond earrings are not hard to find, and are actually a very requested, shape of diamond earring.

{mosgoogle}

While shopping for your square diamond earrings, remember that this is not the only shape of diamond available. Diamonds can be purchased in a number of shapes and settings. A few of the different shapes of diamonds available are, round, oval, emerald, pear, radiant, trilliant, marquise, heart shaped, and of course square and princess cut. Square diamond earrings, are available in many different styles. You can purchase square diamond earrings in hoops, studs, drop style, chandelier, three stone, and many more.

When shopping for a gift for someone else, square diamond earrings, are usually the shape chosen, for the recipient of the gift. Many women have their personal preferences, and when their preference is not available, the classic square diamond earrings, are what will usually take its place. When you have an extensive jewelry collection, with all of your diamonds one particular shape, many times the square diamond shape, will serve as the fill in, when your particular shape is not available.

Square diamond earrings, are also available in a few different colors of settings, such as, yellow gold, white gold, and silver. The amount of karats for the gold setting will vary, with each set of square diamond earrings. Some women prefer to have a certain amount of karats, in their gold setting. This of course would be a personal preference, and a decision you will have to make, when you purchase your square diamond earrings.